
The November 10 exhibit opening will feature a panel discussion about the closure of Central State and the development of mental health services in Central Indiana since 1994.

Registration available at the Spirit & Place Festival website: www.spiritandplace.org

This event is the third and final installment in the “Voices from Central State” series, which features writings by patients at Indiana’s flagship mental hospital during its 150-year history. Visit www.imhm.org for more information.
